RÉFÉRENCE

Turfanforschung (eds.). Zur lichten Heimat – Studien zu Manichäismus, Iranistik und Zentralasienkunde im Gedenken an Werner Sundermann. Wiesbaden: Harrassowitz, 2017, XII+754 p. (Iranica 25)

- 1 This enormous memorial volume of 754 pages contains 56 contributions in English (40×), French (2×), German (12×), and Russian (2×). They cover all aspects of Turfan studies, notably editions, palaeographic and philological work as well as comparative and interpretative studies of various religions (particularly Manichaeism and Buddhism) and several languages (Iranic: especially Middle Persian, Parthian, and Sogdian; Turkic: especially Uighur; Tocharian; Chinese; Coptic; Greek and others). The volume is introduced by three contributions that put the commemorated at their heart, and many authors include a personal salute in their papers, which reveal the high appreciation they felt for Werner Sundermann as a colleague and friend.
- 2 It is impossible to write a classical review of a volume of such dimensions that would do justice to its richness. Instead of listing the contributions – this information is easily available in the Table of contents on the publisher's homepage – or focusing on a few selected contributions, I have decided to procure an index to this volume that lists the text sources mentioned in this book. Due to space limitations, this index is published at <https://halshs.archives-ouvertes.fr/halshs-02417588>. Here I will restrict myself to mentioning a few selected editions, often the first publication of the text in question, including a facsimile, transliteration / transcription and translation.
