Religious Elites in the Development Arena

Sten Hagberg

Electronic version

URL: <http://journals.openedition.org/apad/4072>

DOI: 10.4000/apad.4072

ISSN: 1950-6929

Publisher

LIT Verlag

Printed version

Date of publication: 1 August 2011

Electronic reference

Sten Hagberg, « Religious Elites in the Development Arena », Bulletin de l'APAD [Online], 33 | 2011, Online since 19 March 2012, connection on 24 September 2020. URL : <http://journals.openedition.org/apad/4072> ; DOI : <https://doi.org/10.4000/apad.4072>

This text was automatically generated on 24 September 2020.

Bulletin de l'APAD

Religious Elites in the Development Arena

Sten Hagberg

- 1 The current issue of APAD-Bulletin concerns the ambiguous relationship between religion and development, particularly Christian and Muslim organisations involved in development policy and practice in different West African countries. Faith-based organisations present interesting challenges to received wisdom and the different contributions highlight the new visibility of religion in development arenas.
- 2 This issue of the APAD-Bulletin is the first being produced at the Department of Cultural Anthropology & Ethnology, Uppsala University. We welcome proposals of special issues, as well as individual papers, to be published in our journal. The current issue emphasises the bilingual dimension of APAD: two papers in English and two papers in French with full versions of the introduction in both languages!